

POLICEMEN CHASE BURGLARS.

Interrupt Robbery, but Thieves Escape With Cash.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL

Hastings, N. Y., June 18.—Burglars tried to force an entrance into the butcher market of B. J. Polimeth early in the morning, but were discovered by a man who lives across the street. Policeman Murray was summoned by telephone. He arrived on the scene, promptly accompanied by Detective Fuller. The lookout saw the police and informed the man inside. The two men then darted for the railroad, followed by Murray and Fuller. Murray fired several shots, but the man escaped in the darkness.

The burglars took considerable money from the cash drawer, but dropped a strong box containing $100 and missed $70 in a closet.
